

PROJECT SNUGGLE-IN 2008

Conclusion to PC Palace Suppliers:

Christmas came early this year for the pupils at Hlomphang Primary (School of Joy) in Soshanguve thanks to PC Palace and its partners. On Friday, 5 September 2008 PC Palace delivered over 120 gift parcels containing blankets, clothes, sweets, mattresses, pillows and pillowcases to the children under the age of 10.

The main aim was to benefit the less privileged children in Soshanguve. This was the first time any organisation had contributed to the entire community.

"Hello PC Palace. My name is Markus Aphane. I am 4 years old. When I grow up I want to be a pilot." This was just one of the heart-warming welcomes that PC Palace received from many of the children who attend the Hlomphanang School. While Markus has dreams of becoming a pilot, many of the other 32 children who attend the school wish to become social workers and join the police force. The beautifully painted Thank You banners and boards outside the school along with the heartfelt songs sung by the students were more than enough to bring tears to the eyes of the members of PC Palace who had devoted much time and effort to bringing some joy to these children.

Historical Background of Hlomphang Primary School

Hlomphanang is located in the extremely disadvantaged Block MM of Soshanguve which has no running water, electricity, sewerage system or any other basic services. Originally run from a dilapidated old clinic, the school was rebuilt in February 2004 with the help of Rainbow Projects / Bula Lobati, an initiative of the Garsfontein Dutch Reformed Church. Marenka Maela is the educator at this school who is devoted to helping these children achieve their dreams by teaching them skills such as reading, writing and mathematics. The children even learn how to grow and maintain a vegetable garden.

Without your support it wouldn't have been possible to bring so much joy for this less privileged community.
